Unzipping Creativity Worldwide, according to Nature.

Innovation at the heart of Italian thinking and making.

At Lampo we craft value into every detail.

Lampo is a registered trademark of Ditta Giovanni Lanfranchi S.p.A.

“AN INDUSTRIAL SYSTEM, AN ARTISANAL APPROACH”.
Where, for 130 years, people, innovation, responsibility and creativity have been the key to success!

Not only environmentally friendly, but also sustainable, innovative and trendy. It's no coincidence that Stella McCartney, the stylist who pays the most attention to environmental issues, chose Lanfranchi zippers for her RTW trouser collection. Just like Geox, who have been offering their clients quality and innovation since 1995, and now make use of Newlife™ zippers for the NEW:DO collection.

“We don't make environmentally-friendly products only – says Gaetano Lanfranchi, CEO Lanfranchi Spa - The whole company and its production cycle aim at reducing waste and giving value to its following use. We believe that sustainability and innovation are keys for a market-competitive offer able to respect today's values. This is the reason why we committed alongside Greenpeace Detox and today we can prove that our products are free from the pollutants indicated in the international organization's black list”.

New collaborations with premium brands and high-tech designs, the ISO 14001 certification awarded to the URAGO plant and the subscription to the Greenpeace Detox Campaign: Lanfranchi Spa's positioning marks a step forward and combines the strength of creativity with a responsible mission for the future.

Lanfranchi's production aims at being always closer to the customer; this is the reason why, a couple of months ago, a 3D printer was introduced in the company, in order to create exclusive prototypes of unique shapes, tailored to the customers, in very little time. A care for customers that, together with high quality and responsibility, makes them unique in the market, attracting brands like Stella McCartney and Geox.

“In keeping with her dedication to responsible material selection, Stella McCartney has selected a new eco-smart zipper for her RTW women trouser collection. Made by Italian manufacturer, Lanfranchi, these new zippers are 100% smart, since the metallic parts that meet the strict Detox and STANDARD 100 by OEKO-TEX® criteria are combined with organic cotton ribbons dyed during a GOTS-certified process.

Stella is a leading and influential designer in terms of style with ethics, the environment and sustainability at the core of her practice. And while always searching for ways to refine and improve ethical production standards, Lanfranchi Spa has been selected as the latest partner to share her vision with their new fully certified zippers. A perfect solution made better because they come fully custom dye matched on request in colours that are also guaranteed fully GOTS certified”.

For their new SS 2017 NEW:DO outerwear collection, Geox chose instead the T3 and T5 stainless steel zippers with a Newlife™ ribbon in 4 colors. The Geox NEW:DO philosophy is based on the principle that “Simplicity is not easy, it is about intelligence”. A clever quest for essence brought the company to choose Newlife™, the result of the High Tech Conversion Model that exclusively transforms fully traceable used plastic bottles into an incomparably qualitative and high-tech polymer during a fully mechanical, non-chemical process, all Made in Italy. Such material is perfectly in line with three key points of the company’s philosophy: “Less artifices, less waste, less energy”. Newlife™ uses -94% of water, -60% of energy and produces -32% of carbon dioxide emissions, as stated by the LCA study by ICEA. The production process can also boast the GRS and STANDARD 100 by OEKO-TEX® certifications.

More attention. More style. More elegance.

The Urago plant.

Lanfranchi Spa presents an innovative model in the fashion industry, based on 130 years of experience and on an artisanal quest for perfection. Lanfranchi's zipper production is totally integrated, from weaving to sewing, all the way through dyeing, shearing, fusion, electroplating and assembling. Even the machineries are Made in Italy and meet all the Italian and European regulations about environment, work safety and respect of the workers. The products have been Oeko-Tex-certified for more than 10 years and today they also meet the Standard 100 class I requirements, the strictest on products intended for children. Furthermore, the Urago (BS) plant was awarded the ISO14001 certification thanks to the new electroplating and dyeing facilities, which are able to double the productive capacity while reducing water use by 30% and drainage waters by 35%.

“Our commitment goes beyond: selected, traceable and high-quality materials have always been treated with the aim of optimizing production and recyclable waste. Our facilities meet the highest qualitative and transparency EU standards, and the work of our employees is carried out with great responsibility: such choices have been part of Lanfranchi's history and everyday life since the very beginning.”

Also the SS 2018 Lanfranchi Spa collection fully expressed the company's new positioning. The new products range from oversized zippers with a more aggressive look to extremely light designs intended for more minimal and fashionable creations. The oversize T9, T11 and T14 non-lock sliders are surely the items that stand out the most.

The new T9, T11 and T14 sliders.
